AFFAIRS IN MEXICO ARE UNCHANGED

Two Armies Occupy Practically The Same Positions.

AMERICAN INJURED.

Many Prominent Mexicans in Jail—Strict Censorship Maintained—Taft's Statement.

Mexico City, Feb. 19.—Two cannon shots at 10:15 a. m., today made the first noise of battle that sounded in the city today. It could not be learned which side had fired the shots.

It was thought that today's battle was on when this noise broke the perfect silence that has existed through the earl yhours, but everything became quiet immediately. it is thought that the battle may start at any moment.

Mexico City, Feb. 18.—Fighting was not resumed as usual early today. The guns on both sides of the battle zone were silent long after dawn. No reason was given for the queit, although it was declared at the National Palace that no armisitce was ineffect. It was expected that firing would begin before the day was far advanced.

The two armies were occupying practically the same positions except that the federals, who had pushed their guns forward toward the arsenal late yesterday had withdrawn them to a less exposed position.

Mexico City, Feb. 18.—When the fighting is resumed today it is believed the rebel army will have a slight advantage.

The federal artillerymen early this morning were occupying a position a short distance back of where they stood for the last few days. They had tried to advance to get a better position yesterday but the fire from the Diaz machine guns drove them back.

Only one injury to an American was reported in yesterday's fighting. A man named Gibbons was wounded while standing near the American Embassy.

Many prominent Mexicans were in jail today, charged with complicity in a plot to smuggle food and money to Diaz. There was no confirmation that Francisco de la Barra once provisional president of the republic, was to be arrested, as was reported over the city last night.

Because of the strict censorship Ambassador Wilson of the United States planned today to publish a small newspaper for the benefit of Americans and other foreigners in the capital. The government has refused to permit local newspaper plants to operate because of their proximity to the battle zone.

President Madero when he received President Taft's reply to his note protesting against intervention by the United States ordered the reply telephoned to the loyal officials of every state in the republic. He said he expected just such a reply and was confident that the government at Washington would not order any troops landed in Mexico during the present trouble. President Taft's statement will be printed and spread broadcast throughout the country.

Schooner in Distress.

Portsmouth, Va., Feb. 18.—Lying too far off for the Paul Gamiells life savers to reach her crew with a line shot from the shore, and in the midst of a sea so raging that lifeboats cannot approach, the schooner Montrose W. Houck is in imminent danger of breaking up here today. The revenue cutter Onondaga is speeding to render assistance. The vessel is flying distress signals. She was bound from Jacksonville to Baltimore, loaded with phosphate rock.

$125,000 For a Chair.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—The largest sum ever received by Yale University for the endowment of a chair is $125,000 which just came from Miss Emily F. Southmayd, of New York for a chair of Equity Jurisprudence in the Law Schoio. The gift is in memory of her brother, Charles F. Soutmyadd, who, although not a college graduate, received the degree of doctor of laws from Yale in 1884.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Information from Breathitt county, Ky., tells of the fatal wounding there yesterday of Ruth Callahan, wife of the oldest son of "Deacon Ed" Callahan, in a general fight. News of the fight came after the announcement by Commonwealth's Attorney Crutcher, that three of the men in jail on charge of being implicated in the murder of "Deacon Ed" Callahan in Breathitt county a year ago had made confessions. These confessions are said to have given every detail of the plot which ended in the murder of Callahan. What bearing, if any, yesterday's affray in Breathitt county has on these confessions is not known. The death of Callahan, leader of his faction in Breathitt county, followed a score or more of murders among the Beach, Hargis, Callahan and Marcum families.

A trustee's accounting filed in the surrogate's court in New York yesterday showed the when William Zeigler, Jr., became 21 years old last July, he received an annual income of $800,000 form the estate of his father, the wealthy baking powder manufacturer, who died eight years ago. The Zeigler property now aggregates about $21,000,000.

Sheriff C. L. Howard, of Montgomery county, Md., yesterday afternoon administered ten lashes with a rawhide whip to William Claggett, colored, who was convicted in the police court a few days ago of wife-beating. Clagett was the first person to be punished in Montgomery county under the law reviving the whipping post for wife-beating. The sentence was executed in the jail yard. The prisoner's hands and feet were shackled, his feet chained to a small platform, and his hands were held above his head by a rope fastened to the iron bars of a window immediately above the platform. The only protection he had was a thin undershirt. As Sheriff Howard administered the lashes Deputy Sheriff Hewitt kept count. At the first blow Clagett did not flinch, but as the sheriff warmed up to his work the negro began to show signs of distress, and the last three or four lashes made him squirm and groan.

Tripping and falling headforemost into a boiler of scalding water, Sadie Schaffer, six years old, of Atlantic City, sustained injuries of which she has but slight chances of recovering. Her face, arms and chest were horribly burned when her mother ran into the room to her aid. Taken to the hospital, the child rallied for a short time, but her awful pain soon rendered her unconscious. Her mother and several neighbors have volunteered to sacrifice sections of their own skin for grafting, and this will be attempted if the child shows improvement.

The marching pilgrims bound from New York to Washington in the cause of woman's suffrage had their first hostile reception since their hike commenced, at Lieperville, a small village to the north of Chester, Pa., late yesterday, when they were snowballed and almost routed by a crowd of small boys. A squad of cavalry from the Pennsylvania military college, however, went gallantly to the rescue, put the young opponents to the movement to rout, and escorted "General" Rosalie Jones and her "army" to this city, where they will spend the night. Although the aim of the boys was accurate, only one injury was reported and that was slight.

Six men were killed and six injured, at Derry, Pa., last night, when a rope holding a train of cars on an incline parted, the cars rolling off the track. The dead and injured were employed by the Pennsylvania railroad or nearby stone quarries. All the dead and injured were on a train coming down a mountainside. When half way down the steep incline, the train got beyond control. The first and second cars of the mountain train jumped the track and landed in a valley.

POINCARE MADE TENTH PRESIDENT

Imposing Scene in Palace of Elysees in Paris Today.

SUCCEEDS FALLIERES.

President of Republic is Commander in Chief of Army and Navy and Head of Legion of Honor.

Paris, Feb. 18.—In the Palace of the Elysees, Raymond Poincare—the "square point"—today was inaugurated tenth president of the third French republic, succeeding Armand Fallieres.

Poincare was elected president January 17th by a special legislature convened at Versailles. His inauguration today was in the official residence of the Chef Executive.

Several minutes before the hour set for the formal transfer of power President Antonan Dubost, of the Senate and President Paul Deschanel, of the Chamber of Deputies with the respective parliamentary suites arrived at the Elyssees in carriages, escorted by a platoon of dragoons and followed by state officials in automobiles and carriages.

President Poincare was accompanied to the palace by Aristide Briand, prime minister. Carriages headed a vast procession of civil and military attaches of the Elyssees. The rear was brought up by a squadron of Cuirassiers.

It was 2:15 p. m., when M. Poincare left his house and 2:45 when he reached palace. As his carriage entered the court yard in and about which was stationed a battalion of infantry, the band struck up "La Marseilles, the National and regimental colors were dropped and from the distant Esplanade des Invalides came the boom of the first of 21 guns, firing salute in the new president's honor.

The retiring president, Fallieres, met his successor in the Grand entry of the Palace and conducted him to the Salon of the Ambassadors, where the cabinet ministers and officials of parliament were already grouped. The inauguration took place there, President Fallieres in a brief speech, welcoming the new president. M. Poincare responded with an equally brief address, thanking his predecessor for his courtesy and the parliamentary officials for conferring the honor upon him.

The insignia of the Grand Master of the Legion of Honor was then handed to President Poincare. As in America, the French president is the commander in chief of the army and navy, and is also the head of the legion of Honor. It was the "Grand Cross" that the Grand Chancellor of the Legion presented to M. Poincare.

At 4 o'clock President Poincare, accompanied by M. Fallieres and the officials went to the city hall, where the new president signed the "book of gold." The party was then joined by their wives and families, and gold medals were presented to President Poincare, and former Presidents Fallieres and Loubet. A students choir sang the Marseilles and luncheon was served, the men and women eating in separate rooms.

IN MEMORIAM

of Richard A. Lacy, who departed this life one year ago today.

The month of February once more is here,
To us the sadest of the year;
Because it took from us away
Our darling father, one year ago today.

Yet again we hope to meet him
When the day of life is fled,
When in Heaven with joy to greet him,
Where no farewell tear is shed.
No father dear to guide us,

With love sincere and true,
No father to caress us,
As he was wont to do.
The dear one no wis sleeping,

No care is on his brow,
Oh, blame us not for weeping,
We have no father now,
Death has robbed us of our father,
Whom we loved and cherished dear;
It was father, yes, dear father,
Can we help but shed a tear?

Yes we miss him, oh, we miss him,
When we see his vacant chair,
But how sad the home without him,
For we have no father now.
—By his Loving Wife and Children.

HISTORY OF OLD HOME.

Interesting Data Relative to Owners of Fairfax House, Recently Sold.

The old house on Cameron street recently sold by the heirs of the late David A. Windsor, to Mr. J. H. Crilly, was built by William Yeaton, a native of New England, who came to Alexandria with his brother, Joshua Yeaton, about 1800. The house was built on land leased from Charles Alexander, whose heirs collected the rent until some time in the seventies, when the ground was purchased by Mr. Windsor, who had then owned the house for some years. William Yeaton and his wife, Lucia, gave a deed of trust on the property in 1816 soon after the house was built, but failing to comply with their contract, suit was brought before the Circuit Court of the District at Alexandria, and it was decreed that the property should be sold by Charles Page, as commissioner, at public auction in 1830. The Bank of Potomac bought the property and sold it December 9, 1830, to Thomas Lord Fairfax, for the sum of $5,800. Mr. Fairfax, as he preferred being called, died in 1846 devising the house to his heirs. Dr. Orlando Fairfax, occupied it up to the time of the civil war, during which he resided in Richmond Virginia. This house was occupied for several years by northern people, and it is said that the handsome mirror that is in the parlor was only saved from being carried off by the wit and presence of mind of a citizen of Alexandria who was called to do the work of removal. He declared that the mirror was so built into the wall that it would be destroyed by any attempt to dislodge it. This mirror was given by General Lafayette to Governor Morris, a kinsman of the Fairfax family, who was minister to France. During the period of the French Revolution, it was more successfully looted from the Tulleries than from the old house in Alexandria, and finally found a place on the wall of the Morris home in New York. At the time this house was built Mr. Yeaton had made for the hall a handsome mahogany table which had inlaid in colored woods on its front panel a picture of the house. This table was and still is probably, owned by the family of the late William C. Yeaton, of Alexandria. The old residence, beautiful in its interior, as well as in its external architecture well merits the careful restoration which Mr. Crilly will doubtless give it, and it is hoped that it dill long be a monument to the town.

ENDS LIFE IN GIRL'S HOME.

Lover Commits Suicide When She Refuses to Marry Him.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 18.—Rejected by the girl he loved, George Ward, 32 years old, No. 2922 Poplar street, Philadelphia, shot himself back of the right ear at the home of Miss Anna Comlin, 29 years old, of No. 526 Cedar street, Camden, yesterday, and died almost instantly. When Ward called at the home he found Miss Comlin talking to her mother in the sitting room, and requested that she accompany him to the parlor. Complying with the wishes the girl strolled leisurely into the parlor, where he asked her to marry him. Just as Miss Conlin replied in the negative, he fired.

The girl fainted, but was revived in a short tome by neighbors who were attracted to the house by the cries of her mother, and Ward was hurried to the Cooper Hospital in a police automobile. Physicians found that death had been instanetaneous.

City Detective Schregler was told by Miss Conlin that she had rejected Ward on account of his extreme jealousy and because he had accused her of meeting other men. She was afraid of him and had told him to discontinue his calls, but neighbors had informed her that Ward had been seen watching about the house several night, evidently to see whether other men called upon her in his absence. Ward was employed as a driver for the United States Express Company.

GEN. G.W.C. LEE PASSES AT RAVENSWORTH

Noaed Virginian Son of the Late General Robert E. Lee.

A BRILLIANT RECORD.

Was Lieutenant General in Confederate Army and Aide to the Late President Jefferson Davis.

The many friends and acquaintances of General G. W. C. Lee, were startled this morning when they learned that that gentleman had died about ten o'clock at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. F. Lee, at Ravensworth, Fairfax county, a short distance from this city. While the deceased was nearing the four-score mile post in the journey of life, and his course was necessarily nearly run, his friends and acquaintances were unprepared to hear of his decease.

General G. W. C. Lee was the oldest son of the late General Robert E. Lee, and when his father paid the debt of nature nearly forty-three years ago, he suceeded him as President of Washington-Lee University, a position he held until recent years when he resigned and retired to Ravensworth to spend the evening of life.

He is survived by a brother and a sister—Captain Robert E. Lee, who resides at West Point on the York river, and Miss Mary Custis Lee.

During the war between the states the deceased was a lieutenant general in the Confederate army and aide of President Jefferson Davis.

BABY BURNED TO DEATH.

Thrilling Rescue from Burning Home Involves Trio in Heroic Task.

Shamokin, Pa., Feb. 18.—Baby Geraldine Snyder was burned to death yesterday while two other children and her mother were taken from their burning home by brave Jefferson Renn, his son Kiefer, and Mrs. John Shuster.

Mrs. Snyder and her three children were in two bedrooms up stairs, and she was seized with illness and lay on the bed while the children played in the adjoining room. They accidentally set fire to a mattress in a short time the rooms were full of smoke. Jefferson Renn, a neighbor, discovered the fire, found all the doors and windows locked, and climbing a telephone pole to the rear of the roof, broke out a window and dashed into the smoke-filled apartments.

At the landing at the head of the stairway he stumbled over the unconscious form of Mrs. Snyder, and carrie dher downstairs.

Rushing back into the house, Renn again groped his way to the second floor and heard children screaming in the front room. He had difficulty in forcing an entrance into the room, as a burning bed had been pushed against the door. By the time he had entered the children had succeeded in opening a window and were about to leap out. He grabbed them, Walter, aged 5, and May, 3, and carried them out.

Mrs. John Shuster, joining Renn in the rescue work, found a burning cradle in the bed room and discovered little Geraldine asleep therein. Mrs. Shuster picked up the cradle and was about to carry it out of the house, when it fell apart, and the burning bedclothing and the child rolled to the floor.

Kiefer Renn rushed to Mrs. Shuster's assistance and carried out the horribly burned child, which died shortly afterward.

STRIKE OF FIREMEN HAS BEEN AVERTED

Railway Officials Have Agreed to Submit to Arbitration.

MEN CLAIM VICTORY.

Judge Knapp Given Credit For Bringing About Peaceable Outcome of Issues at Stake.

New York, Feb. 18.—The imminent danger of a strike of 35,000 locomotive firemen, tieing up 54 eastern railroads, was avertod today by the unexpected and reluctant consent of the railroad managers to arbitrate the controversy under the federal Erdman Act.

This decision of the railroad managers was acclaimed by the firemen as a victory.

The decision of the railroad managers was as complete a victory for the firemen as it was unexpected. Arbitration under the Erdman Act was the same one thing for which the firemen had held out against any amended or counter proposals made by the railroads. It was the contention of the firemen's representatives that the railroads were forcing the strike issue by refusing to arbitrate under this act.

The principal share of credit for bring about peaceful settlement of the dispute rests with Judge Knapp, and acting commisioner of Labor Hanger who had worked night and day in conference with both sides of the controversy.

Killed by "Silencer."

New York, Feb. 18.—The first use of a "silencer" on a rifle in the activities of street desperadoes was recorded by the police here today when Tony Vivola, an East Side gangster and John Russomanno, a saloon keeper, were shot with a gun that was not heard by any one. Vivola was killed and Russommano seriously wounded. The shooting was believed to have been in revenge for the killing by Russommanno in self defense of a notorious gang leader, Annello Prisco, two months ago. Vivola was Russommanno's body guard. The wounded man told the police he saw his assailant firing upon him with a rifle that made flashes but no noise.

BOY BURGLARS ARRESTED

Break Show Window of Wolf's Store on Lower King Street Last Night. Other Arrests

As a result of the robbery of the show windows of the clothing and shoe store of Julius Wolf, at 204 King street last night, the police department early this morning rounded up a band of young negro boys, ranging from 13 to 17 years in age, who are believed to be responsible for a number of daring robberies in the city of Alexandria this winter.

The robbery of the Wolf store occurred at 10:30 last night when the big show window on King street was broken with a piece of iron and a number of articles, including watches, chains, gloves, pocketbooks and other trinkets were taken. Sergeant Scott and Officer Nicholson were detailed on the case and early today arrested Geo. Johnson, aged 17, Richard Brown, aged 15 and Edward Pickney, aged 13. The boys acknowledged that they had committed the robbery and lead the officers to the place where the goods were hidden. All of the stolen articles were recovered.

After being locked up in the police station for several hours today they confessed to Chief Goods that they had been implicated in several other robberies and gave the names of a number of other boys who, they said, had been associated with them. They confessed to have stolen shoes from Wolf's store on previous occasions.

The police are making a search for the balance of the gang.

REVERSES JUSTICE TROTH.

In the Circuit Court of Alexandria county yesterday Judge J. B. T. Thornton, after hearing a writ of habeas corpus instituted by Attorney Charles E. Corgan, of this city, on behalf of William and Fred Priebe reversed the judgment of Justice Frank Troth, of the Mt. Vernon District, Fairfax county. The hearing was held in the Alexandria court by consent. The two men were arrested by Game Warden Payne on November 16th, charged with unlawfully gunning. They were fined by Justice Troth and as the fine was not paid a capias was issued against them and on February 4th, they were arrested and taken to the Fairfax jail. Since that time they have been confined there. As a result of the decision of Judge Thornton the men have been released.

NEGRO IN BATTLE.

R. G. Watkins is Badly Wounded by Alleged Robber.

Gordonsville, Va., Feb. 18.—R. G. Watkins, town sergeant of Gordonsville, was shot at 10:45 o'clock Monday night by a low, yellow negro, whom he attempted to arrest as the person who entered and robbed the store of A. J. Bell, at Cobham, Va., February 9.

Sergeant Watkins found the negro on engine No. 2, of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway that runs each morning to Richmond and said to him: "I want you."

The negro jumped to the ground and ran under the large building of the Gordonsville Milling Company, the officer firing twice at him from his concealed position. The negro fired five times at Sergeant Watkins with a .44 calibre pistol, one ball passing through the large part of the right leg near the hip.

Everett Faber, who was with Watkins, hastily summoned a physician and then joined in pursuit of the negro.

The bloodhounds from the state convict camp at Madison Run, Va., were soon brought here, and it is hoped may lead to a capture. All trains were closely watched throughout the night and telephone messages have been sent in every direction.

A large reward is offered for the capture of this negro. Great excitement prevails.

Mr. Watkins is resting queitly although he is badly wounded. It is expected he will recover.

Norfolk, Va., February 18.—Following the departure of one company of marines under command of Lieut. Case today for Philadelphia, where it will become a part of the mobilization of 2,000 men of the marine corps to take part in the Mexican movement, orders for three more companies, or 200 men, to get ready were received tonight.

There are nearly a thousand men quattered here in the marine barracks now. Colonel Karmandy, the commandant of teh barracks and all other officers of the post were busy tonight making preparations for the early departure of the Wednesday detachment.

SLEMP MAKES FORTUNE.

Virginia Congressman Reported to Have Realized Large Sums.

Friends of Congressman Bascom Slemp, the lone Republican in congress from Virginia, declare that he has cleaned up another large fortune in Kentucky coal land operations.

The amount is not known to them but they believe it will run up into the hundreds of thousand of dollars. Four years ago Mr. Slemp came out of a big coal land deal in southewest Virginia and eastern Kentucky with a profit of $500,000.

Mr. Slemp was in the deal which transferred 300,000 acres of eastern Kentucky coal lands from the Northern Coke Company to the Elkhorn Fuel Company, of which Senator Watson is president. Senator Watson is the controlling factor in the Consolidation Coal Company, and this company is behind the Elkhorn Fuel Company. The transaction is reported to be one of the largest ever made in coal lands in this country for many a year.

Running in this land are veins of coal averaging ten feet in thickness. It is estimated that the entire acreage contains the stupendous amount of 5,500,000,000 tons of coal, which is sufficient to supply all the world for nine years.

The Elkhorn Company intends to mine about 20,000,000 tons a year. Their operations in eastern Kentucky will open up that field as Southwest Virginia has been developed in the last ten or fifteen years.

For years Mr. Slemp and his associates have been obtaining options and buying eastern Kentucky coal lands until their holdings have reached an enormous figure. The young Virginian, a far-sighted business man, was one of the first to see the possibilities of the coal land developed in eastern Kentucky. Since then he has devoted much of his time in the acquirement of holdings and leases.

The Virginia congressman will not discuss the inside details of his speculation in eastern Kentucky, but he has no besitancy in saying he is pleased with the results.

ELOPERS CHASED ALL DAY...

Posse Overtakes Couple After Going Through Dense Forest.

Lawrenceville, Va., Feb. 18.—An exciting all day chase by a sheriff's posse, headed by Deputy Constable F. W. Elmore, ended yesterday evening near the North Carolina line in the arrest of M. Clifton Abernathy, who is charged with abducting and marrying Miss Ercelle Moore, while he had a wife living.

About eight years ago Abernathy married Miss Effie King, of Edge Hill, from whom he separated without securing a divorce. Mrs. Abernathy is now living in Petersburg.

Abernathy met Miss Moore, the 16, year old daughter of William Moore, who lives at Kenbridge, and on Thursday they eloped to North Carolina, where it was thought they were married. Saturday they returned to Alberta, but Abernathy hearing that the girl's brother had issued a warrunt for him, persuaded the girl to start afoot to North Carolina.

They were overtaken after making their way through a dense forest near the Carolina line. Both were nearly exhausted and suffered greatly from the cold.

Abernathy was taken in charge by the Lunenburg authorities, and Miss Moore was turned over to her brothers, several of whom were with the posse.

TO FIGHT BANDITS.

Men Who Captured Revenue Agents Are Barricaded.

Bristol, Va., Feb. 18.—The band of mountain bandits who recently captured two internal revenue agents in the mountains near Mount Airy, N. C., are barricaded in the forests and declare they will die before they will submit. News from Mount Airy is to the effect that a posse is being organized to start after the band this week and that it will be strong enough to capture them.

After Deputy Marshal Harkrader and a sheriff had captured one of their number and started with him to Dobson the gang overtook the officers, released the prisoners and beat the officers into unconsciousness, leaving them for dead. Rewards aggregating $1,500 have been offered for the capture of the bandits, dead or alive. The Federal Government of North Carolina have offered large rewards, which have been supplemented by offers from private citizens.

The officers were riding along a mountain road with their prisoner when the members of the gang sprang upon them from the darkness. Deputy Marshal Harkrader reached for his pistol and got it out, but a hand snatched it in the darkness. A third member of the officers' party, who was an officer, fled in the darkness, leaving his fellow-officers to the mercy of the bandits.

Governor Honors Requisition.

Richmond, Feb. 18.—Two requisitions have been honored by Governor Mann, both for the return of forgers. One paper came from the state of Ohio, while the other was forwarded from Trenton, N. J., and bore the signature of Woodrow Wilson.

The New Jersey requisition is for the return of A. C. Bonwell, alias William H. Henson, wanted at Trenton for obtaining $150 by means of a fraudulent check from the Mechanics' National bank February 2, 1911. The fugitive is now under arrest in Norfolk City and Police Sergeant Charles H. Pilger, of Trenton, will return with him to the New Jersey capital.

The second requisition is from the governor of Ohio, for the return of Clayton Minut, now at Portsmouth, who is wanted in Cleveland for obtaining $185 from the Society for Saving of Cleveland.

O., by means of forged recept. Both requisitions have been honored and the two fugitives will leave Virginia today under the charge of officers of the law.

To Keep Women Out of Saloons.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 18.—Mayor W. R. Mayo, has received a petition signed by sixty-three Italian citizens of Norfolk urging that as the city's chief executive he take steps to suppress the appearance on the street of women with Italian organ grinders who send these women into barrooms and other disreputable places for the purpose of begging.

The petitioners call attention to the fact that they are Italians asking that practices by Italians be stopped.

Mayor Mayo yesterday had up with Chief of Police Kizer the question of keeping these women out of saloons. The mayor thought the present ordinance forbidding women from entering saloons could be invoked.

BAN FALLS ON ELOPERS' AIDS.

One Expelled, The Other Suspended, From Harrisonburg Schools.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 18.—Following the expulsion of Miss Lillian Campbell, who eloped with Thomas Berry, from the State Normal School here, the faculty of the school has imposed punishment upon Miss Campbell's roommates, who are alleged to have aided her flight with Berry, to whom she was married in Washington.

One of the two roommates of the eloping pupil, who is a sister of the groom, has been requested to withdraw from the school permanently. The other was suspended for a year.

It is reported that the elopers, after their marriage in Washington, went to Petersburg, where the groom is said to be connected with a newspaper.

The Allen Case.

Richmond, Feb. 18.—Governor Mann will hardly render a decision in the Allen case this week, it was stated at the office of His Excellency yesterday.

Last night he left for Roanoke to attend the opening session of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League in that city tomorrow.

Though he will probably be in Richmond Wednesday, he will leave that night for New York to deliver an address at a Board of Trade meeting Thursday. Friday he will be in Norfolk in attendance upon a meeting of physicians.

The Governor expects to issue a lengthy statement when he reaches a decision in the case. So far he has had practically no time to get down in o the depths of the matter. It is believed, however, that he will roll up his sleeves, so to speak, when he returns from Norfolk, and will then buckle down to the proposition in earnest. It will probably take him several days to accomplish his task.

The two Allens, Floyd and his son, Claude, are condemned to die March 7th in the electric chair for their part in the Hillsville tragedy. They are seeking commutation of sentence.

There is little likelihood that Governor Mann will grant them another respite.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine, etc., as prepared in D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made that friends of more than one family by recommending this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive pay guarantee. D.D.D. Soap keeps the pores clean and sanitary.

THE LATE GEN. G. W. C. LEE.

The announcement of the death of General G. W. C. Lee in today's Gazette will be read with sincere regret by every one who has met the deceased during his long life. Mild and gentle as a woman in his deportment, there was blended with his nature all the traits which go to make the man of the highest type.

Partaking of the noble character of his progenitors—he was a son of Robert E. Lee and grandson of Light Horse Harry—the heroism and nobleness of his character were from the best moulds.

He inherited military genius, and it is a matter of history that he passed the best examination at West Point, which gave him a notoriety at the portals of manhood not enjoyed by all.

At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the Confederate army, and his rise was rapid. At the close of hostilities he wore the shoulder straps of a Lieutenant-General. He was also aide to President Jefferson Davis.

There are many incidents in his war record which would afford interesting reading. On one occasion, his brother, the late W. H. F. Lee, who at one time represented this district in Congress, had been captured by the federal troops and was about to be executed in retaliation for the alleged killing by the Confederates of northern soldiers who had been captured. At this critical moment General G. W. C. Lee offered to take his brother's place, urging as his reason that his brother had a wife and children to mourn for him, while he had no family.

When the Good Shepherd closed the eyes of his father in death over two score years ago he took his place as President of Washington-Lee University. Like his illustrious sire, who retired from public gaze when he laid aside his sword at Appomattox the subject this notice shrunk from fame the family achieved in the revolutionary struggle, the Mexican war and the war for state's rights, and followed his calling at the head of the university until a few years ago, when he retired to the shades of Fairfax county to await the time when he, too, should be called upon to pay the debt of nature.

But two of his immediate family are now living—his brother, Captain Robert E. Lee, who resides on the quiet York river, and his sister, Miss Mary Custis Lee, who is so well-known and esteemed among her many friends and acquaintances.

READY FOR EVENTUALITIES.

By Sunday President Taft will have 2,000 marines at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba within 72 hours of Vera Cruz and 96 hours journey from Mexico City itself. The concentration of these forces began today throughout the East.

The 2,000 marines wil ltake the total force "expeditionary" available at the Cuban Naval base about 3,000 men, including the marines aboard the ten battleships now at that place. In all, bluejackets and marines, it will bring the American forces at this point—three days journey from the Mexican coast—up to 11,000 men.

Announcement of the concentration of these forces were not made at the naval department until the orders themselves had reached the various barracks in the east from which the 2,000 marines were drawn. The transports Meade and McClellan were expected to sail with the men from Norfolk tomorrow.

The mobilization of the real fighting force at Guantanamo is the backing up of President Taft's veiled threat to Madero in the diplomatic note which he dispatched yesterday to Mexico City.

The battleship Connecticut sailed from the Brooklyn Navy yard today for Gunatanamo, Cuba, with 1,020 sailors and marines on board. Seven hundred marines also left the navy yard today, taking a special train to Philedalphia where they will board the transport for Guantanamo. All were equipped for active service.

PUBLIC BUILDING APPROPRIATIONS.

There is much to be said both for and against the liberal appropriations made by Congress for public buildings and the Philadelphia Record in an inteligent editorial on this subject makes some pertnent suggestion in this connection. The Record says that the Government has got to have buildings everywhere for postoffices, and in all the larger cities it must house its Courts; it must have Custom Houses in the ports, and offices for the collection of internal revenue. There is no reason why it should hire buildings, and where it needs the largest accommodations it cannot hire suitable ones. The appropriation of money for the erection of public buildings is judicious.

But, unfortunately, the business is so managed as to attach the name of "pork barrel" to the appropriation bill. The reason for this annual discredit is that there is no proper and reasonable ratio between the amount of the appropriation and the necessary accommodations as indicated by the rent paid. Where the Government is able to house its agents in a hired building for $1,000 a year it might with propriety spend $20,000 of $30,000 in erecting a building. But the people of the town insist on something large, ornate, imposing, and the member of Congress asks for $50,000 or $75,000, and occasionally $100,000. If he stood alone he would have no chance on earth of getting such a sum, but as scores or hundreds of his colleagues are in the same situation, their co-operation carries the appropriation through. The method is stigmatized as log-rolling, and the result as the pork barrel.

In Washington the Government does not own buildings enough. It could build more cheaply than it can hire, but there is no political advantage in spending money in Washington. This city is in pressing need of more accommodations for the Federal offices. But it does not command votes enough. But there are always votes enough—after an election is over, when the need of making an economy record is not felt—to give forty or fifty towns public buildings that are twice as expensive as the rentals now paid warrant. If Congress will adopt the rule of keeping within 20 per cent. above the capitalized value of the rentals paid it can appropriate for public buildings without the slightest suggeston of scandal, and without any invidious remsirks, about pork barrels and log-rolling and piecounters and co-operative raids upon the Treasury.

Heflin Refuses to Hold Debate.

Representative Tom Heflin of Alabama, who was challenged to a joint debate by some of the suffragists, yesterday wrote a letter refusing to consider the proposition even for a minute.

He made the suffragists mad a week ago by a speech he made in Falls Church, Va., telling the suffragists just where they got off. Among other things, he said that half of the suffragist who wanted to run the country were divorced, another quarter were contemplating divorce, and the remainder were living miserable lives with their husbands.

As a result of it al. he was challenged to meet some suffrage speakers in a joint debate and defend himself as best he knew how. Representative Heflin yesterday replied to these challenges. He wrote a letter to Mrs. J. Otho Stevenson, Mrs Nettie Podell Ottenberg ,and Mrs. Owen Kildare, replying to their challenge. Here's the very note:

"I do not believe that it is proper for a woman to debate in public any political question with a member of the opposite sex. I have such an exalted opinion of woman and such a deep-seated conviction as to the sphere to which God in his wisdom intended she should confine her activities that I cannot consistently accept your invitation to debate the question of woman suffrage with a woman. Some time in the near future it is my purpose to discuss the question of woman suffrage. It may be that I shall speak in the House."

At a late hour last nigh: the suffragists were unable to make any comprehensive rejoinder.

Death of "Jaoquin" Miller.

"Joaquin" Miller (Cincinnatus Heine) the "Poet of the Sierras," died yesterday in his one room cabin, which he built in the Piedmont Hills of California, many years ago. The end came at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, with warm sunshine flooding the room where lay the author of "Songs of the Sunland."

Death came slowly upon the venerable poet. He became unconscious Thursday, after a lingering illness, which began when he suffered an attack of paralysis two years ago. The weakness of age had come upon him, and he rarely ventured from "The Heights," as he called his mountain retreat.

For many years "The Heights" has been the mecca of lovers of Joaquin Moller's poetry. He always received his guests graciously, and loved to tell in a vein of quaint humor of the old, adventurous days which he memorialized in his verses. His faculties were undimmed until almost the end, and he labored at intervals upon a poem, which he said was to be the most momentous work of his life. He guarded the poem with the utmost secrecy and not even his wife and daughter knew its subject. He was about 71 years old.

From childhood his was a stirring eventful life. He was born in the Wabash District of Indiana, November 10, 1841, and was christened Cincinatus Heine. His father was of Quaker stock. At the age of 11 young Miller accompanied his parents across the plains to the Pacific coast. The family took up a government claim in Oregon. Craving for adventure, and stimulated by stories of the gold strikes in California, he ran away at 15 to seek his fortune. Already he had participated in an Indian war, receiving an arrow wound in the neck. In Siskyou county, Cal., he was adopted by a tribe of Indians and married the daughter of the chief. Shortly afterward the woman was killed by settlers in a punitive expedition against raiding redskins.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Baffled in her cherished ambition of finding a place in the retinue of Mary Garden, Helen Newby, a beautiful nineteen-year-old girl, in Philadelphia yesterday committed suicide. Miss Newby, who was the daughter of John Newby, a wealthy iron master, had left her home at Heckers Mills, near Harrisburg, in order to fit herself to enter the service of the opera queen Yesterday, when she found that Miss Garden had left the city without sending for her, as she had expected, the girl returned to her father's home and ended her life with a revolver.

The report of J. Pierpont Morgan's serious illness, which fluttered financial dovecots in five capitals yesterday, originated in Rome, whence the story came that the financier was near death, on the Caronia, bound to Naples, and was atttended by two doctors and four nurses. The rumor spread to London, Paris, and Berlin, and caused acute depression on London stock exchange, which was not allayed by the contradiction from New York. American Rails, at the closing, were the lowest for the day. The truth seems to be contained in the following Daily Mail dispatch from Cairo: "Morgan, in good health, arrived from upper Egypt Saturday. He will rema in in Cairo ten or fifteen days. The reports of his illness are unfounded."

Imprisoned in a tunnel 60 feet underground, eight workmen in a section of the Passaic valley sewer in Ackerman avenue, Clifton, N. J., narrowly escaped death yesterday when a compressed air pipe burst and flooded the excavation. Believing the flow would subside, and not comprehending their danger, the men continued at work. They finally realized their peril and rapped on a pipe. Joseph Beng, of Brooklyn, the engineer, heard the signal, and lowered the elevator. The water was then up to the men's neck, and all jumped aboard at once.

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

Is The Test of Time. Many Alexandria People Have Made This Test.

Years ago this Alexandria citizen told in a public statement the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills.

The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Alexandria reader demand more convincing proof? It's Alexandria testimony—it may be investigated.

Mrs. Anine Scott, 110 Prince street, strong friend to Doan's Kidney Pills Alexandria, Va., says: "I am the same today, as I was in 1910 when I publicly told of the cure they had made for me. This cure has been lasting, but I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills as a preventive. I had pains in my back and I could not rest well. In the morning I always felt tired and worn out, and I also had dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did such good world that it is a pleasure to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

Consumptives Helped by Tuberculosis Medicine

It is folly to believe that Consumption differs from every other disease in not requiring the use of any medicine for its treatment. For a number of years an enormous mass of voluntary and thankful testimonials from persons who consider that they owe their lives to Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Tuberculosis, has been accumulating. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them. Here is one:

5763 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen:—In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. I grew steadily worse. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alterative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity, I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well. Everything I say here can be verified by my family and friends."

(Sworn affidavit) ANNE E. LOUGHRAN.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

New York Shudders In Fear of Salt And Pepper Attack

TO literally salt and pepper a great city into submission is the form of strike possibility evolved out of the recent waiters' controversy in New York.

The sensational plan to make the power of the men who juggle plates and spill gravy felt by all the wealthy diners out in Gotham made New York gasp. Not only was the plan to salt and pepper the city into helplessness suggested, but overt threats of possible poison were forced upon the public. At least, threat of poison was the construction the restaurant and hotel owners put upon a startling utterance by one of the strike leaders.

In the evolution of the hideous plan Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, who some time ago became prominent as leaders of the Lawrence (Mass.) mills strike, had a leading part. They put the plan of attack into words, offering it as good advice to the waiters. These two men have had a thrilling experience as labor leaders. Because of their movements in the strike at Lawrence last summer they were charged with complicity in a murder, were tried and acquitted.

Thus when the labor disturbance involving the New York waiters and the garment manufactory employees broke out simultaneously the pair gravitated naturally to the center of the stage in that city. They have come to be popular strike leaders and, in fact, the idols of a large portion of discontented workers.

Ettor was first to sound the warcry for the waiters that thrilled the public. In a speech before the strikers he said, "Go back to work with your minds made up that it is the unsafest thing in the world for capitalists to eat food prepared by your union."

The subtle threat was widely accepted as having the most sinister meaning possible, and the restaurant owners seriously considered having the agitator prosecuted criminally.

Giovannitti followed with a similar utterance, which in effect took the sting and the hideousness out of his friend's words. In a speech he told the waiters: "The waiters in Paris won their strike by subtle means. Where in a certain relish a pinch of salt was required they put in a handful. Where a mere sniff of pepper was needed they put in another handful."

While New York was still gasping over the fear of the "unsafest thing in the world" and "the subtle means" Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, another oracle of the workers, gave new advice. She told the men to make affidavits as to the character of the food sent out from the kitchen under normal conditions. The waiters as a result put forward charges that unfit food was served as a regular thing, having thick coatings of sauce to cover the signs of its unfitness, and that food rejected by one person at table was returned again to another guest with new sauce hiding its defects.

Ettor is twenty-seven years old and was born in this country. He was a sheet metal worker before he became a strike leader as a member of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Giovannitti is thirty years old. He was born in Italy, the son of a chemist. He lived in Montreal and Halifax after coming to America and gained a common school education. He entered Union Theological seminary and registered at Columbia university when he came to New York. He preached in Presbyterian missions in New York and Brooklyn and later in Pittsburgh. While in the last named city he took up socialism. As editor of Il Proletario, an Italian newspaper, about a year ago, he met Ettor and joined him in agitating under the name of the Industrial Workers of the World.

The waiters undertook their strike with the demand for a regular wage.

TURN DOWN THE SIGN PAINTER.

Farmers should not allow their barns or outbuildings that are close to the road to be decorated with the advertisements of articles or the business of merchants of nearby towns. It detracts from the appearance of the farm and gives the place a too much commercialized aspect. A sign of that kind soon becomes an eyesore to both the farmer and his neighbors. What little protection the advertiser's paint gives the building is more than offset by its ugly appearance.—Northwest Farm and Home.

HOW TO KILL LAWN BUGS.

Various Ways Suggested to New York Botanical Garden Expert.

In answer to a call published in the New York Times Dr. W. A. Murrill, acting director of the New York botanical garden, received interesting suggestions relative to the extermination of white grubs that have killed many of the lawns in New York and vicinity by cutting the roots of the grass beneath the sod.

It is thought the worm may be crushed by watering the lawns and rolling them with a heavy horse roller. Poison is said to be effective, but for immediate effects on badly injured lawns it is probably best in the fall to plow and sow at once the infested areas with three quarts of white clover seed to the acre. Dr. Murrill is informed that the mature beetles, usually called May beetles or June bugs, may be captured when they emerge from the ground in the late spring or early summer, at the end of the third year of their development, by placing tubs of water containing a little kerosene at various points on the lawn with lanterns suspended above them. The insects are attracted in swarms by the lights and finally fall into the tubs, where they are killed by the kerosene. One advantage of this method lies in the fact that a lawn may be protected no matter where the insects originate nor how abundant they may be.

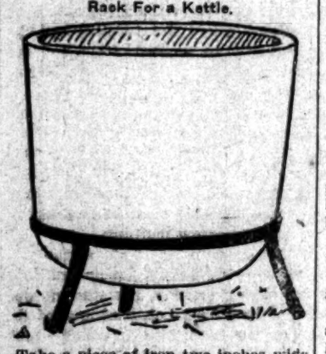
WARNING!

Washington Experts Want Every One to Look Out For Bad Vetch Seed.

Warning has been issued by the United States department of agriculture against the purchase of certain lots of low grade hairy vetch seed now being offered by wholesalers. The greater part of this is imported from Europe. Recent lots have been found to contain from 15 to 80 per cent of hairy vetch seed, the remainder being forms of spring vetch not hardy in the northern states or various species of wild vetches of doubtful value.

The seed of hairy vetch is spherical, varying from three thirty-seconds to five thirty-seconds of an inch in diameter, averaging about one-eighth of an inch. The seeds of most other vetches are more or less lens shaped, flattened at the ends and varying in size. By spreading a small quantity of the mixed seed on a cardboard and gently shaking it the hairy vetch will roll off, leaving behind most of the vetch seed that has been used as an adulterant. The color of hairy vetch seed—grayish black, with a greenish tinge if fresh—is another test; also the lemon color of the crushed seed.

Rack For a Kettle.



Take a piece of iron two inches wide and one-half inch thick and long enough to make a hoop to fit your kettle, make a hoop out of it and weld it together, then take three pieces of iron about an inch in diameter and about a foot long and weld to the hoop for legs. The legs can, of course, be made any length desired, but the legs on the rack shown are about a foot long. This gives plenty of room for wood, and there is no danger of the kettle falling. Another plan may be to use gas pipes with the legs set in the pipe.—Iowa Homestead.

Orchard and Garden.

A neglected asparagus bed on the place is of little commercial value, and to take up the old crowns and reset them would be unwise when young plants can be obtained at a moderate cost and a new bed planted at much less expense.

Save all of the wood ashes and apply them to the orchard. They supply potash, which is a necessary element of fertility. In addition to the plant food value of ashes, they benefit the mechanical condition of the soil in making it mellow and friable.

When the temperature drops so low some of these nights hang a lighted lantern in the cellar, about a foot from the floor, making sure it cannot fall and set fire to the house. The heat from it may be enough to save the fruit and vegetables from freezing.

Man of Mystery In Finance Comes Before Public Eye

IF the Pujo congressional probe of the reputed money trust brings no other result, at least one thing is surely accomplished by it—the probe has disclosed the identity of a hidden money giant to the general public. George F. Baker, who is proved to be coruler with J. Pierpont Morgan of the big financial enterprises of the country, is the newly discovered potentate.

Mr. Baker was called as witness before the investigating committee, and his testimony was looked upon as even more significant than that of Morgan who had preceded him.

He startled the country with two or three statements of facts which tend to show the existence of a trust on money. He admitted that the power of controlling wealth was concentrated in a few hands and expressed his belief that any further concentration of the power would be bad. If the power got into unscrupulous hands, he said, the welfare of the country would be seriously endangered.

There still are many men in Wall street who remember George F. Baker when he was a clerk in the great bank that he now practically owns. Now he is not only the head of one of the biggest financial institutions in the United States, but also one of the four richest men in America.

Not the least amazing thing about this extraordinary career is that he has been able to climb so high without attracting any especial attention or making any noise about it. He is a man of silence. Next to Morgan he is the greatest figure in Wall street. Few persons among the general public know his real power. He is one of the biggest figures in the coal trade and in banking. In the fields of transportation, insurance, rubber and innumerable other great industries he is a commanding force.

Quietly, silently, unobtrusively, he has gone ahead year after year, never a backward step. He has trampled on no one. He has made no enemies, aroused no antagonisms. His name has appeared rarely in the newspapers. Nobody hears of Baker trading any stock, but when one comes to look over the list of the owners of the great properties of America one finds his name, like Abou ben Adhem, leading all the rest.

Those who know George F. Baker and have a fair idea of the power he wields do not hesitate to say that he is an "irresistible force" and the most silent man among all the great financial lights. Now and then some one sees him on the street "engaged in conversation" with some one. That means that the other man is doing all the talking and Baker the listening. A visitor spent six weeks at his country place in Tuxedo one summer and never heard him utter a word in all the time. A nod or a gesture was his usual expression of greeting or of gratification.

He was born seventy-two years ago last March in Troy, N. Y. He seems to be sparing of his words most people regard him as cold, but those who know him intimately say that at heart he is a man of warm and generous nature. His father was George F. Baker, who for many years was Washington correspondent for the New York Tribune. George F. Baker died in 1886, leaving two children, George F. and Mrs. Grant B. Schley, whose husband is a prominent Wall street broker. George F. Baker has two children also—a son, named after his father, and a daughter, Mrs. W. Goadby Loew. Although Mrs. Loew is known by her family as "Queenie," as she appears in public she seems to have inherited her father's severe poise. George Baker, Jr., is a pleasant young man, who is a good all around athlete. A summer or so ago he saved a man from drowning on the Jersey coast, risking his own life to do it.

George F. Baker lives in an ineonspicuous house in Madison avenue. His country home at Tuxedo is also unobtrusive. Neither place would attract attention by its external appearance, though each is costly and comfortable.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Senator Stone began his speech in defense of President Taft's veto of the immigration bill immediately after the Senate Journal had been read today. A vote upon the bill is to had at 3 o'clock.

That all the worst criminals who have appeared in America were educated men who could have stood the literacy test imposed by the immigration bill, vetoed by President Taft, was the plea of Senator Stone, of Missouri, speaking in behalf of the vote in the Senate today. "Who killed Garfield?" he demanded. "Who assassinated McKinley? These villianis were able to read. The Black Hand and Camorra are made up of people who could enter under this test. Red-eyed anarchy is not illiterate."

Call for an extraordinary session of the Senate on March 4 for the formal cermonies of swearing in new senators and receiving any cabinet nominations from President Wilson was issued today by President Taft.

With several provisions designed to make effective its enforcement stricken out, the La Follette-Peters bill establishing the eight-hour working day for women was reported to othe Senate by a committee today. From the opening phrase—"That no female shall be employed or permitted to work"—the words "Or permitted to work" were cut out. Section 3, designed to prevent female employes from working a total of more than eight hours for any number of employers in any one day, was omitted. The committee killed the clause, "the presence of any such female on the premises at any other hours than those stated in the printed notice shall constitute prima facie evidence of violation of ths section." An amendment requries that the wages paid each female employe shall be conspicuously posted in each establishment.

Shot by a Woman.

Munice, Ind., Feb. 18.—Doris Underwood, 22, a school teacher of Hartford City, shot and seriously wounded Otis A. Fisher, 20, a drug clerk here because she believed Fisher had wronged her sister, Ada, a pupil in the Muncie schools.

"Ada is all I have in the world, and if anything goes wrong with her I will kill you," Miss Underwood told Fisher. A few words followed between the two, and then Miss Underwood fired. She is held today without bail. Fisher was shot in the breast but it is believed he may recover.

Halt in Strike.

After a day of conferences between committees representing the railroads and the firemen in an effort to find a solution to the wage controversy which is threatening a strike on all railroad managers late last night threw down the gauntlet to their employes by announcing finally that they absolutely refused to submit the points at issue to arbitration under the terms of the Erdman act.

To the surprise of those present the representatives of the firemen, instead of giving notice that a strike would be called at once, as they have declared for the past several days, gave indications of backing down, and asked if the railroads were willing to give them time to put the matter before the officials of the firemen's organization. To this the railroads agreed, and it was arranged that another conference between opposing sides be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At the conclusion of one of the conferences with Messrs. Knapp and Hanger, during the day, a statement was issued by Elisha Lee, chairman of the managers' committee, accusing President Carter, of the firemen's brotherhood, with having issued a "misleading interview" to the newspapers.

"Mr. Carter does not take the public into his confidence as to the real reason why the firemen have made such excessive demands," said Mr. Lee. "There is a very keen rivalry for the lead in membership between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen. If the firemen can show that they are able to force a larger increase out of the railroads than the engineers were able to command, it will tend to draw engineers to the firemen's order."

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alterative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alterative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows:

715 Cherry St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1905, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alterative. In the fall of 1906, I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

MRS. LARAMORE TELLS TROUBLES

Lady in Goodwater Describes Her Distressing Experience and Tells How She Was Finally Relieved.

Goodwater, Mo.—"Ever since I was a little girl," says Mrs. Riley Laramore, "I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia.

I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn.

I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Thedford's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress.

I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned.

I speak a good word for Thedford's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity."

If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Thedford's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver.

It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c.

Truth is simple, requiring neither study nor art. Reputation is not made, though sometimes it may be lost, in a day. Nearly forty years of business experience has proven to John A. Marshall & Bro., that it is healthful to tell the truth. Their success in the shoe business is due to their straightforwardness in business and in strictly clinging to an honest opinion about the goods they sell.
